OVERCOMES BEST BALL OF HARRI-WAN AND DOUGLAS BY WIDE MARGIN. World's Champion Shows the Greatest Golf Ever Seen in This Country-He Makes Iwo New Records - Douglas Outplays

Harriman Big Gallery Pollows the Men. ATLANTIC CITY, April 3.- Most noted of our colf matches to this time, the contest between Harry Vardon, the world's champion golfer, against the best ball of H. M. Harriman, the amateur champion of America, and Findlay S. Douglas, who formerly held the honor, at the Northfield links to-day resulted in a signal victory for the professional He won, by 9 up and 8 to play, and, including the bye holes, Vardon was 8 up in the thirty-six played. The varion was 3 up in the thirty splayor. The result would indicate that our best amateurs are still a class below such men as Laidlay. Balfour Melville, John Ball, Jr., Hilton, or the other crack amateurs abroad, taking as a line the success of Laidlay and Balfour-Melville in a similar match, by 2 np and 1 to play, againstly ardon in Scotland last fall. Howplay, againstly ardon has met some of our other high-class amateurs, it is perhaps hardly fair to pass now this harsh judgment as to their class. To-day there was only one golfer in it after the first nine holes and his name was first the first nine holes and his name was for the first nine holes and his name was booked:

Vardon's 15t is the finest score recorded in this country over a full length course by a professional in a competition. When James Fessional in a competition when James Fessional in a competition. When James Fessional in a competition when James Fessional in a competition. When James Fessional in a competition. result would indicate that our best amateurs Vardon. Next in merit was Douglas, while the only homebred in the match. Harriman, was in the poorest form of the trio. He, however, made some holes in brilliant fashion. Harriman's game was not so poor as his stroke score would indicate, for he repeatedly took desperate chances to gobble a hole and in fail-ng added a couple of strokes to his card. Vardon on his long game was the perfect solfing machine he has so oftenbeen called. He pade no mistakes in this department, but wice he flubbed a mashle approach as any daffer might do, by taking too much turf, and three or four times he failed on short puts, one of them only of a foot. To redeem this much of his work on the putting greens and in approaches was most effective, and, to sum up. the Englishman played better golf than any follower of the links has ever seen in this countr. This was the general opinion of the experts, who included the best-known amateurs Philadelphia and the metropolitan district. There was a tremendous "gailery" to watch the match. The clubhouse, which has glass nclosed verandas like the Atlantic City and lakewood hotels, overlooks the entire course and the bay. It was thronged all day long. fully 1.500 persons walking after the players. fully 1.500 persons wanting.

The members who had charge of the reception. The members who had charge of the reception. Huey. Baltimore Country Club—John B. Ladd. University of Pennsylvania Golf Club—Howard K. Hemsley and W. E. Edge, had to work like beavers, while Judge Endicott, in his efforts have the rope properly handled that kept back the crowd, hustled like an old-time volunteer fireman getting out a line of hose. The "gallery" included many pretty women from Atlantic City and Philadelphia, who added much delat to the scene. One onlooker from Lakewood said that the women had the tailor-made gowns of London and the vivacity of Faris. The spectation of fine plays and implicit in their appreciation of fine plays and implicit the special control of the th added much cetattothe scene. One onlooser from Lakewood said that the women had the tailor-made gowns of London and the vivacity of Faris. The spectators were most enthusiasic in their appreciation of fine plays and impartal in their applause. Photographers, professional and amateur, found a great opportunity in the perfect light, for the day was a cloudless one, and cameras were as thick on the course as golf balls.

The only drawback to ideal golfing was the wasterly wind, which was half a gale and erossed the line of play on most of the holes. It was the worst wind that could be had for soring, yet Vardon established the competitive records for both eighteen and thirty-six holes. The bogey is 79, and the best previous record, barring Vardon's 76 in practice on Monday, had been 81. After the match Vardon had this to say:

been 81. After the match Vardon had this to say:

"The amateurs started very well and I realized I had to stick right close to them and I did so, but really it has surprised me to win by such long odds. The course is quite as good as many abroad and it made me feel at home to play off turf tees again, after the odd nks I have been visiting. Harriman is a good golfer, but hardly as reliable as I thought he would be. It must be that he was not on edge, for in to-day's game he hardly seemed in the same class with Douglas. The latter I consider a very thorough golfer. This is the finest laks I have seen in this country."

The distances of the holes had been changed somewhat by setting back the tees. As played to-day the order in yards was:

Out 297 342 292 182 345 205 458 179 355-2858

0ut-297 842 292 182 545 205 458 179 358-2858 In-199 155 502 308 425 247 232 410 411-2889

The course was in splendid shape for the new grass was just started enough to give good lies through the fair greens, and the putting greens were true and not too fast. The only exception was the eighteenth green, where the sand scattered around stopped a running up approach, but once on this green the conditions were favorable.

The amateurs won the toss for the honor. Harriman leading off. He had to play the odd after the tee shots and this was the case on hearly every hole in the morning. On this and on many of the drives Douglas was about as good as Vardon, but on several holes the latter outdrove both amateurs by from ten to twenty-five yards. Harriman was over the green and under a fence on his second for the first hole and he took 5 to get down. Douglas was within three feet on his third and Vardon's ball jumped the hole, going fully six inches beyond it, when in a most inexplicable way it toned tack and fell in for a 4. Douglas haived on the like. Vardon regarded this as a rare cleec of luck, although most of the crowd thought he had put a back twist on the ball on purpose and there was a round of applause.

On the second green, after Harriman had overrun in his effort to gobble a 3, Douglas lay safe for a 4, but Vardon ran down on an eight-foot put in grand style, and a half was again recorded. All played the third in faultiess style, and it was halved also in 4. The amateurs won the first blood of the match on the fourth green, Douglas getting down afterior put for 3, while Vardon, whose ball had allen in a soft spot, failed to be up on his second and took 4. Both the amateurs lost a chance through pressing in playing for the long fifth hole, and Vardon was timed to 7. He

He played the hole prettily and just missed on a fairly long put for 5. Vardon was within a vardof the cup on the sixth hole on his second. A wrist mashle shot, and won it in 3 to 5, the amateurs both again making poor work through the fair green. The Englishman was how I up RICHMOND, April 3.—Some exciting matches were played here to-day in the preliminary round and semi-finals of the Jefferson tournament at Lakeside Park. The closest was perhaps that between C. T. Williams and Levin Joynes, who is chairman of the Club Committee. The match was decided by the last put of Joynes on the eighteenth hole, making him I up and bringing him against W. F. Morgan of the Otsego Club in the finals to-morrow. The results for to-day were:

IN THE BASEBALL WORLD. New York Club Secures Outfielder Tommy

Frank DeHass Robison, President of the St Louis club, with extreme generosity, has turned over the release of Centre Fielder Thomas Dowd to the New York club. This makes the seventh player received as a gift by the New York club from other League clubs. Dowd is a good ballplayer. He played with the Cleveland tail-enders last year, and in spite of the general depression of spirits under which that team labored, he made a good record in the averages. Robison sent him a contract to again play with Cleveland before the League circuit had been reduced, but later on, when it was found that Dowd would not be wanted in St. Louis, Robison refused to release him for less than $300. Dowd was in town yesterday and said that he would be very glad to play with the New Yorks under the existing circumstances. Dowd will probably sign a contract in a day or two, and will join the Arctic

As yet the Brooklyn club has heard nothing from Reach and Rogers regarding the proposition made by Manager Hanlon to trade Hugh Jennings for either Delahanty or Lajote or to pay $8,000 for either of these Philadelphia stars. It is a good bet that Philadelphia will not accept, but the proposition is just as fair as that of Reach and Rogers when they offered. sition made by Manager Hanion to trade Hugh not selling its stars. If the Brooklyn club could land Delahanty for Jennings, the champions would be strengthened in batting, but possibly would be weakened at first base as Kelley as yet has not shown Jennings's ability in that position.

The New York Club has finally let up on Third Baseman Fred Hartman. He has been sold to the Chicago American League Club, managed by Charley Comiskey. It is possible that Catcher Parke Wilson and Pitcher Gettig will also be released by Manager Ewing to the same club. Hartman has been out of baseball for a year.

Light Fields but Well-Contested Races at Rennings.

WASHINGTON, April 3 .- Another big crowd visited the Bennings racetrack to-day and they not only had the pleasure of beating the bookmakers, but they saw some good racing as well. The card was a very poor one and light fields ruled in all but two races. Yet every race was well contested. Golden Rule, at odds on, won the first race easily after being nearly left at the post. Educate, favorite for the second, won by a nose from Albert Enright because McJoynt outrode little Seaton. Then Queen of Song followed it up by Missed spares—Sencr, 2:10; Seber, 1821/2 Umplier—Charles L. Rehbein. Scorer—Herman Kahls dorf.

Will Meet in a Twenty-five Round Bout

the Westchester A. C. in June. Bob Fitzsimmons yesterday signed articles five round bout on or about June 2 at the Westchester A. C., Tuckahoe, N. Y. The affair. which will be fought according to straight Marquis of Queensberry rules, will be decided between 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, as pictures of the mill are to be taken. The men will receive 67 per cent. of the gross receipts and 67 per cent, of the picture privileges. Matchmaker Hauck of the Hercules A. C. was present when the articles were signed and was prepared to give the men a $10,000 purse. He did not get a chance, however, to make his offer.

as referee Madden yielded at once as he regards him as one of the fairest and best interpreters him as one of the fairest and best interpreters of the Queensberry code in the country. Dave Holland was first chosen as final stakeholder but he was replaced by another party and each puglist deposited $1,000 as a guarantee for their appearance in the ring.

Fitzsimmons will begin training at once and will probably be quartered nos very far from the clubhouse. Ernest Roeber and Dan Hickey will look out for his wants. Ruhlin, Madden says, will do his work at Bath Beach. Madden and Charley Goff will prepare him. It was agreed that in the event of inclement weather on the date set for the battle the mill can be postponed until a clear day. In case the club fails to pull the battle off within a week of the original date each puglist will receive $1,000 from the club.

Both Ruhlin and Fitzsimmons have pledged themselves not to meet either Sharkey, McCey, Jeffries or Corbett prior to the fight.

RUSEITON & MORRIS CANOES. THE H. & D. FOLSOM ARMS CO.,

NEW YORK, Feb. 10th, 1900.

MESSRS. A. G. SPALDING & BROS. Gentlemen:—After careful inspection of the sample Golf Clubs made by you from the models of clubs that I am using, and also after a visit to your factory, and examining into your facilities for manufacturing, I have this day contracted with your company to manufacture and sell the H. Vardon Golf Clubs. The clubs which you have submitted for my approval are the best both in material and workmanship of any that I have ever seen, and are perfect duplicates in models of the clubs I am using. In order that the clubs shall be a uniform quality, I have arranged with an expert golf club maker as my representative to inspect for me all clubs manufactured by you bearing my name.

From and after this date all genuine Vardon clubs will bear my name together with yours, as my exclusive manufacturers.

Yours very truly, Darry Vardra
